Desctiption:
This project analyzes a supply chain dataset to uncover what drives revenue, cost, and operational efficiency. We clean and model the data, answer key business questions (such as the impact of product category, suppliers, and shipping methods on revenue and costs), build forecasting models to predict future trends, and present all findings in an interactive Tableau dashboard with a final report.